

will come to you as I gain more knowledge in this regard. If I went into details now, this letter would consist of many pages, so please excuse my brevity.

I also met ^{one} of the foremost news reporters of UN. We had a most interesting conversation. At its end he thanked me, saying the information I had given him about Interplanetary and Space Conditions was of utmost interest and he would write it in articles for public release in 32 languages throughout the world. If you are able to secure papers carrying UN news reports, you might find his articles helpful to you in your effort.

With the best wishes to you always. We are doing our best here, as we know you are in your part of the world.

Sincerely,

George Adamski

Dear Friend: It has been a long time since we last heard from you. How are things going? We think of you often even though it has been impossible to write as often as we would like. Events these days are moving very fast, and we do indeed keep busy. . . still unable to keep up with all that should be done.

Cordially,

Lucy McGinnis
