Dear Mr. Kubota

During the last two weeks of August I was in Washington State, lecturing. En route home I had a wait of 4½ hours for a plane. While waiting, one of the Brothers whom I had never met before came up to me at the airport and we spent the time together in pleasant conversation. He stayed with me until plane time and stood watching as the plane, with me aboard, left for Los Angeles. In the course of our visit he told me that the time had now come for me to travel and meet the people of the world.

Shortly after arriving home I received a letter from Australia asking if I would come there for a series of lectures if they raised the money to stand my expenses. This was the term under which the Brother told me I should travel, since I do not have sufficient finances to afford such a voyage.

After considering this offer for a few days, I have answered my correspondent, Mr. Gordon L. Jamieson, Hon. Secretary, Queensland Flying Saucer Research Bureau, Pacific Highway, Slack's Creek, Queensland, Australia, accepting the offer. I have also written to Mr. Hinfelaar and Mr. Dickeson, whose addresses you have in New Zealand, asking if they would like to have me visit their nation under the same conditions, giving a series of lectures there. Now I am writing to you, asking you the same question. There are no plans made yet, but it probably would be the latter part of March before I could get to Japan, if you wish me to include a stop there. As yet I have not decided definitely whether I shall return home and then go to Europe where the people have been asking for me for several years, or whether I shall make a world tour at this time. It seems as though a world tour by plane would be the most convenient and the least expensive for all concerned. But I shall await word from my co-workers before being able to make detailed arrangements and reservations.

Number five of the Question and Answer booklet has been delayed at the printer because of labor trouble. It may be a couple of weeks yet before it is completed and ready for mailing. But it shall be sent without delay as quickly as we receive them.

May I have the pleasure of hearing your decision from you without too much delay? Should you be able to arrange lectures for me through Japan, you might find it saves you time to correspond directly with the workers in Australia and New Zealand to learn their plans and the time involved. Of course I would like to hear directly from you the arrangements you will be able to make so that I will know how to tell the leaders in other nations to follow when I will be able to get to them.

With kind wishes always, and such appreciation for your cooperation.

Very sincerely,

George Adamski

PS: Did you receive my letter of August 27th?

PS: I have just received another letter from our friends in Korea to whom you sent a letter sometime ago. That was received safely and the receiver was most delighted. Thought you might be interested in knowing this.
