

...penses within each nation should include hotels and meals as well as transportation from place to place. While G. A. has received many invitations to spend nights with friends in every nation, he has found through experience that this is not wise. Sincere people are so enthusiastic that they are hungry for information which G. A. can give them. Time passes on invisible wings and before anyone realizes it, a night has passed, without rest for anyone. But when invitations are accepted for a day or an evening, with other guests invited, a time for breaking up the discussion arrives so the other guests can go home to rest. In a hotel G. A. can sleep in as late as he desires, or arise as early, without thought of imposing upon the hospitality of a considerate host and hostess.

More later, but we wanted to get this to you without further delay.

Sincerely,

Lucy McGinnis

FIRST FOLD

PS: Dear Mr. Kubota: Mr. Adamski would like very much to include Japan in his tour and is still hoping that things will work out so that he can. If they do, the schedule in this letter will be changed to include time there. If he had the money, G. A. would gladly pay all of his expenses for the pleasure of visiting your nation, meeting you and your associates and all of the people who are interested in today's developments spaceward. At any rate, we will keep you informed of developments and if even at the last moment something works out, you will still have three months in which to notify your people and work out plans. We are hoping with you that this does work out.
